IMPORTANT INFO:

Welcome to November! As the air turns crisp and the leaves display their beautiful colors, we're taking time to reflect on gratitude and community. This month, we celebrate both Veterans Day and Thanksgiving—two holidays that remind us of courage, service, and togetherness.

✉ Stay Connected

If you have not yet provided Jocelyn, our Social Worker, with an updated family email address, please reach out to her at jfisher@fairportnrc.com. We're updating our contact list so families can continue to receive important news, announcements, and upcoming event information.

🦃 Thanksgiving Reflections

We're looking forward to celebrating Thanksgiving with our residents! It's a special time to share good food, warm company, and appreciation for all who make Fairport Rehabilitation & Nursing Center feel like home.

If you are planning to take your loved one out for Thanksgiving, please be sure to see the Nurse Manager in advance. All residents must be cleared by the medical team prior to leaving the building on a day pass. This helps us ensure everyone's safety and continuity of care.

LOST CLOTHING

We're excited to announce a Family Clothing Labeling Event in the McKnight Room on November 21st and 22nd from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

All unlabeled clothing items will be brought up and placed on display for families to look through. This is a great opportunity to reclaim any missing items and ensure your loved one's clothing is properly labeled moving forward. We encourage families to stop by anytime during the event, we look forward to seeing you there!
